RE: DVCR Certification for Family Crisis Center of Baltimore County

Dear Ms. Reid:

Congratulations! The Family Crisis Center of Baltimore County has been certified for online access to records of shielded peace and protective orders in accordance with COMAR 01.04.04.

Certification shall be effective upon the issuance of the notification to the applicant-organization and the Administrative Office of the Courts and, unless rescinded or revoked, shall remain in effect for three years from that date.[1] Certification is non-transferable to any other organization.[2] The Governor's Office of Crime Prevention, Youth, and Victim Services (the Office) will notify the Administrative Office of the Courts of the above named organization's certification. Upon receipt of notification, the Administrative Office of the Courts shall provide that organization with online access to otherwise shielded peace orders and protective orders.[3]

Should the Office become aware of any facts or circumstances evidencing that the above named organization has misused its online access or if the organization fails to cooperate with the Office or the Administrative Office of the Courts, the Office may take whatever action it deems necessary and appropriate, including suspending or revoking that organizations' authorization and certification.[4]

Should you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me at your convenience at 410-697-9384.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Allyn
