To whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my support for the Family Crisis Center of Baltimore County's plan for the former St. Rita's property in Dundalk.
I live nearby and am thrilled that FCC is investing their limited resources in Dundalk when services like this are needed in just about every community in the state.
From my understanding, FCC will be bringing people into our community that have been seeking assistance in getting back on their feet. These engaged and determined folks are exactly the type of people that we want to welcome into our community, not shoo away because of our own ignorances and presumptions about who they may be or problems that they could attract.

I hope that you act with empathy for those in need and gratitude for the FCC's legacy of good work when considering their St. Rita's proposal.

All the best,

As a resident of Dundalk MD I am writing in support of the Family Crisis Center of Baltimore purchasing the St Rita's School and Gym to turn into apartments for victims of domestic violence. I feel this would be a great use of the empty buildings and hope they are able to help many women.

Thank you,
Sharon Rodgers

To whom it may concern,
I was recently made aware of the potential purchase of St Rita's church by the family crisis center in Dundalk. I personally think this is an amazing idea and would benefit so many women who need a safe home for themselves and their children.
Please allow them to purchase this unused property and turn it into something good for not only the community, but the betterment of the next generation where it is needed the most; a safe home!
